1 a) What do you know about piranhas?

1. Are they mammals or fish?
2. Are they big or small?
3. Where do they live?

b)  2.4 Find out the answers.
Read along as you listen.

Piranhas are a very special type of fish. They are usually small, about 2 to 4 inches (5 to 10 centimeters) long. Their natural habitat is the Amazon River. Piranhas have lots of sharp teeth and can be dangerous, so you shouldn't put your fingers near a piranha's mouth. They can transform a chicken into a skeleton in two and a half minutes! Not all piranhas are carnivores. Some species don't eat meat. They are herbivores; they eat aquatic plants.

The Amazon Indians hunt piranhas for food. They usually cook the piranhas with vegetables and eat them with their fingers. They also use piranhas for other things. They use the sharp teeth to cut hair, and they use the scales to make paint to decorate their faces. Piranhas are useful because they clean the water around dead animals in the river. There are some people who love piranhas and don't think they are dangerous. They even swim with them! But it's not recommended!

2 Read the first paragraph again. Then write T for True or F for False.

- T 1. Piranhas are not very big.
 ___ 2. Piranhas live in oceans.
 ___ 3. Piranhas can be dangerous.
 ___ 4. Piranhas eat very quickly.
 ___ 5. All piranhas are carnivores.

Male Bengal tigers are up to 10 feet long, and female Bengal tigers are up to 9 feet long. Their fur is orange-brown with black stripes. We should protect white Bengals _____ they are rare.

3 Rewrite the article in Exercise 2. Combine sentences to make them more interesting. Use and, but, and because.

Hawks live in swamps and in deserts, and they build their nests in trees.

A poster about an endangered animal

1 Read the poster.

Pandas are endangered animals! Help protect them!

How many pandas are there in the world?

There are about 1,000. They live in bamboo forests in the mountains of central China. In the winter, they come down to low areas. They don't hibernate.

What are pandas like?

Pandas are cute, but they are big! They are black and white, and they have black eye patches. Pandas are bears. They can climb trees, and they can sit like people. They are quiet and they like to be alone. They aren't aggressive, but you shouldn't go near them. They are dangerous because they are very strong!

Why are pandas in danger?

Pandas eat 65 pounds (30 kilos) of green bamboo every day. Today, there are many towns and villages in central China and there aren't many bamboo forests left. Pandas can't find enough food.

Pandas are beautiful animals and we must protect them!

2 Complete the chart with information from the poster.

2 2.18 Read and listen to the article.

Answer the questions.

1. Who invented the sandwich?
2. Who eats sandwiches?
3. Where do they eat them?
4. What is a good sandwich?

The Great Sandwich

In 1762, the Earl of Sandwich sat at a table with his friends, talking. It was lunchtime and he was hungry but he didn't want to stop and have lunch. "Bring me some bread with some meat!" he said to his servant. And so the great sandwich was born!

Today, the sandwich is the most popular lunch in the United States. Children take them to school, office workers eat them in the office, students eat them in the park, and families eat them on picnics. There are coffee shops, restaurants, and sandwich shops with an incredible variety of delicious sandwiches. There are even sandwich competitions!

So what is the secret of a good sandwich? "The bread and the ingredients must be super-fresh," says Chris Brown, manager of the sandwich shop EAT. "There must be two or more ingredients – one dense, like cheese or meat, and the other light, like tomato. You must make the sandwich just before you want to eat it, not three hours before. And it's very important to use your imagination. Two pieces of dry bread with some dry cheese between them is not a sandwich!"

- 3 Here are the recipes for two delicious sandwiches. Which do you prefer?

Lettuce, cheese, burger!

The cheeseburger is one of the most popular sandwiches in the United States.

Ingredients

- 1 large white bun
- 1 burger
- lettuce leaves
- 1 slice of cheese
- 1 sliced tomato
- 1 spoonful of mayonnaise

Peanut butter and jelly!

American soldiers invented this sandwich during World War II. It's a popular afternoon snack for children in the United States.

Ingredients

- 2 slices of white bread
- 2 spoonfuls of strawberry jam or jelly
- 2 spoonfuls of peanut butter

- 4 What type of sandwiches are typical in your country?

- 5 PAIRS. Invent an original sandwich. Tell your partner the ingredients.

Postcards from Australia

Tuesday, January 12th
Well, we're in Sydney! It's three o'clock in the afternoon, and we're very tired. The flight from New York takes 21 hours. I'm sitting in Grandma's yard right now. We're having a barbecue. Tom and the boys are watching an Australian-rules football match. It's like football but with different rules.
Jenny

Wednesday, January 27th
I'm sitting on Bondi Beach right now. It's near my grandmother's house, and it's amazing! People come here from all over the world to go surfing. Tom and the boys are swimming. They are wearing wetsuits because there are jellyfish in the sea. Those jellyfish are small but they sting!
Jenny

Sunday, January 24th
Today we are in Queensland. We are driving through the country. In Australia, they call it "the bush." A lot of kangaroos live here. They are jumping around all over the place! Tom isn't with us today. He doesn't like long car trips, so he stayed in Sydney. I think he's watching TV.
Jenny

Friday, January 29th
Today we are camping. It's great! Grandma comes to this place with the family every summer. It's twelve noon, and it's really hot today. It's over 100 degrees! Tom is out hiking, and the boys are playing soccer. Our flight home is on Monday. I don't want to leave this place.
Jenny

- 2 Read about Roberto's family. Then complete the chart.

I'm Brazilian. My family lives in Rio de Janeiro. My parents are from Brazil, but my relatives are from different countries.

My grandmother is originally from Germany. Her house is very clean and organized, and she loves to tell stories about the old days in Germany. She also loves to feed us meat and potatoes.

My grandfather is from Spain. He loves to sing in Spanish, and he sings so loudly, too! He also loves to talk.

One of my cousins is from the UK, but her family now lives in Rio, too. She still speaks with a British accent, which I think is pretty cool.

Holiday parties are always fun and interesting in my family! My grandmother cooks German and Spanish food, my mom prepares special Brazilian dishes, and my aunt brings special tea, cakes, and cookies from the UK. After dinner, we all gather in the living room, and we try to sing Spanish and German songs. We always have a great time!

What do you know about Roberto's ...	Country of origin	Description grandmother?
grandfather?
cousin?

Describe my bedroom

Writing rule

Use adjectives to make a description more interesting.

- Use adjectives before nouns.

Example:

I have a red sofa.

- Use adjectives after the verb be.

Example:

The sofa is big and comfortable.

- 1 Read the description of a bedroom. Circle the things in the bedroom.

My bedroom as a child

When I was a child, my bedroom was next to my parents' room. I was the baby in the family, so I was always close to my parents. It was a very cool bedroom. There was a red sofa bed. During the day, it was a sofa. In the evening, it was a bed — my bed! In front of the sofa were three round rugs — all red! There was a red rocket lamp on the desk. You guessed right. My favorite color as a child was red.

On the walls were colorful posters of my favorite bands and singers. There was also a corkboard above my desk. On the corkboard were my favorite drawings. Around the room was a string of colored lights — red, yellow, blue, green. My room looked really cool when the lights were on.

Oh yeah. There was a big television in my room and a computer, too. But only my mom could turn them on. I didn't really care. For me, my room was the coolest because it was mine.

- 2 Underline all the adjectives in the description in Exercise 1.
- 3 Imagine that you are now an adult, and thinking about the bedroom you had when you were younger. Write about it in your notebook. Use these questions to help you with ideas:
 - What objects were in the room?
 - What colors were these objects?
 - Where was each object located?
 - What adjectives would you use to describe the room?
- 4 PAIRS. Show your paragraph to your classmate. What things are similar? What things are different?

Q: Do you have a website?

A: Yes, it's behind the stove.

- 1 Read the e-mail. Then answer the questions.

What a vacation!

Hi, Helen!

How are you doing? I'm on vacation right now. Today's my first day at the beach, and here I am e-mailing you. No, I'm not really on the beach. I'm inside! It's raining right now. Can you believe it?

The house I'm staying in is quite small. There are eight other people in the house. Yes, they're all on vacation like me. I'm in a room with four people, and there's only one bathroom for everybody!

It's really bad here. The TV isn't working, and there's nothing to do. We can't go to the beach because it's raining. I'm bored!

I have to go. I hope the weather improves soon, so I can at least go swimming or just lie down on the beach!

See you soon.

❖ Reading

- 1 a) Read about what Pedro, an exchange student in the United States, does every day. Is your life similar to his?

A day in my life

My name is Pedro. I'm from São Paulo, Brazil. I'm here in Los Angeles, California, as an exchange student. My life here is totally different from my life in Brazil.

I wake up at 6:30 A.M. everyday. I take a shower and have breakfast. Then, I make my bed. I never make my bed at home. Someone does it for me. I get to school at 8 A.M. and come back home at about 1 P.M. When I get home, I have lunch with my host mother. After lunch, she washes the dishes and I dry them. I never do the dishes in Brazil!

Then I clean my room before I do my homework. The rest of the afternoon I can relax and watch TV or go out to meet my friends.

My life here is not easy! I miss my life in Brazil sometimes, but I'm having a great time here, too.

Do you	Yes, I do . No, I don't .
Does he	Yes, he does . No, he doesn't .
Does she } work?	Yes, she does . No, she doesn't .
Does it	Yes, it does . No, it doesn't .
Do we	Yes, we do . No, we don't .
Do they	Yes, they do . No, they don't .

- For simple present yes/no questions, use do or does before the subject. Use the base form of the main verb after the subject.
- The sequence of the subject and the verb in yes/no questions is: Do or Does + subject + main verb (base form).
- Use do or does for the short answers.
- Use do with I, you, we, and they.

► The simple present: Information questions

Information questions	Answers
Where do you work ?	I work at the bank.
Why does he work hard?	Because he wants to be successful.
When does she work ?	On weekends.
What do they do ?	They're students.

- As the name implies, information questions (or Wh-questions) ask for information.
- For information questions in the simple present, follow this sequence: Question word + do or does, + subject + main verb (base form).
- Use the third person singular form of the verb when who or what begins a question about the subject.
 - Who likes math?
 - What comes after February?
- Do not use do or does when who or what begins a question about the subject.
